

Election of the staff pension fund commission

Election of the staff pension fund commission should be conducted in a well organised and transparent manner. These instructions guide you step by step through the election process in the form of a checklist and refer to the available tools. You can, of course, adapt the text templates and select the appropriate text modules.

Element	Contents	Templates
Purpose of the election	An election is necessary when the staff pension fund commission is formed or when a member resigns and needs to be replaced. The election proceeds in the same way in both cases.	-
Election criteria	There are no requirements regarding who can and who cannot be elected. You can specify the criteria yourself. We recommend the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - permanent employment - ongoing employment relationship - Members of the Executive Board may be elected for both employee and employer representation. - In principle, there is no time limit on the period of office. However, we recommend a limit of four years, after which members may stand for re-election. - voluntary 	-
Numbers	To simplify the election process, establish the following points beforehand: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - How many people should your staff pension fund commission consist of (equal representation of employer and employee representatives)? There are no requirements in this regard. Consider the size of your company and choose the number of members accordingly (for example, in a company with about 100 employees, three employer and three employee representatives each are appropriate). - How many eligible voters are there in total? All employees in your company are entitled to vote, including (existing) staff pension fund commission members. - What is the minimum number of people who should stand for election? As a rule of thumb, there should be at least one alternative for each candidate. - How many votes does a candidate need to be elected? A simple majority, i.e. whoever has more votes than all the others. 	-
Election procedure	Conduct the election online. That has the following advantages: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Cost-efficient - Error-free counting - Immediate election result There are numerous free and paid election platforms. Choose the platform that you use at work, that you know or that appeals to you the most. Observe your internal regulations when doing so.	Selection of possible voting tools, overview of functions [1] <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Microsoft Forms - Google Forms - Typeform - surveymonkey
Set the election dates	Create an election calendar, in which you record all of the dates for the election. Plan the time period required with a buffer for unforeseen events. Also take into account important internal appointments and meetings, holiday periods and public holidays. Experience has shown that the following time periods are necessary: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Call to stand for election: 14 days from the issue of the call 2. Examination of the candidatures received and preparation of the election profiles: 1 week 	-

Element	Contents	Templates
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Announce candidate nominations and send out election invitations: An election period of 14 days has proven to be ideal. 4. Send voting reminders: after 7 days and 5. Notify election results: On the day after the end of the election
Voting rules	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Only those entitled to vote can vote (all employees incl. [existing] staff pension fund commission members) – Those entitled to vote can only cast their vote once (make sure you set this in your online voting tool in the settings) 	–
Call to stand for election	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Publish a call to stand for election, so that candidates stand for election, in all of your internal communication channels: Intranet, Microsoft Teams, newsletter, as a notice in the cafeteria etc. This information should be available throughout the registration period and should be easy to find for all. – In it, give notice of the upcoming election, the role of the staff pension fund commission members, their tasks, competences and responsibilities, the deadline and the election process. – Integrate a registration form, with which interested parties can register for the election. Test this in advance. Make sure that interested parties can only register once and only until the deadline stated. Call to stand for election [2]

[e.g. on the intranet]

[Title] Become [an employer representative; employee representative] in our staff pension fund commission now

First election

Our staff pension fund commission is looking for members. Are you interested in taking on the important position as an employee/employer representative in the staff pension fund commission? You will find information below that may help you in your decision.

By-election

Our staff pension fund commission is looking for a new member. (At this point we would like to thank [name of retiring member] for their dedicated service).

Are you interested in taking on the important position as an [employee/employer representative] in the staff pension fund commission? You will find information below that may help you in your decision.

Renewal election

The term of office of the members of our staff pension fund commission has expired, which is why they must stand for re-election. If you are interested in taking on the important position as an employee/employer representative in the staff pension fund commission, you can also stand for election. You will find information below that may help you in your decision.

Fundamentals

Occupational retirement benefits are characterised by the idea of social partnership. Companies may sign an affiliation agreement with a BVG/LPP collective foundation with the consent of the workforce. After signing the staff pension scheme contract (affiliation contract), the company is obliged to appoint an equal representation staff pension fund commission. This means that the commission must consist of an equal number of employee and employer representatives.

As a member of the staff pension fund commission, you represent the interests of the employees and your company with regard to staff pension schemes. You are responsible for the organisation and correct administrative implementation of the staff pension schemes in the company and have the following rights and duties:

Rights

- insight into all matters relating to staff pension schemes
- a right to information
- participation in the design of financing and services (e.g. in the event of a change of plan)
- participation in the use of uncommitted funds of the pension fund

Duties

- to inform employees about the organisation, activities and asset situation of the pension fund
- monitoring the administration
- maintaining confidentiality regarding personal data
- carrying out a by-election if a member of the staff pension fund commission resigns

Support

If you need further information on the tasks of the staff pension fund commission, you can find it at Staff pension fund commission | Profond and in Profond's organizational rules.

We, the current staff pension fund commission members, will be happy to support you in this responsible and versatile task.
